Subject: Thank you

I am the great grandson of Smart Simeon Jackson.

I am so happy and thankful to see in reality especially online the recognition of my great grandpa.

All I had were stories from my father Mr. Roderick Godwin Bolahan Smart his grandson.

If you have further information about my great grandpa please let me know. Especially where he is from.

Thank you and God bless you and everyone who has kept this information safe.

Yours truly,

Mr. Nosa Anthony Smart.

You are welcome. But a quick one. I don't know if you have any information on which country they were born in and nationalized before returning to Africa.

I learnt he returned as a free mason, and accompanied Bishop Ajayi Crowther to Nigeria from Sirrea Leone where their boat landed.

Also heard that he wasn't from Freetown, Sierra Leone but claimed there as home due the fact that he wasn't born in Africa.

On the 31st of December 1886, a child was born to Rev. Smart Simeon Jackson in Lokoja, Nigeria by his wife an Egba, and an Aborigine of the Olumo Rock community, Abeokuta, Ogun State Nigeria. During the missionary tour of late Bishop Ajayi

Crowther to Nigeria and Sierra Leone.

This child was named Christian Jackson Smart.

Christian Jackson Smart skipped primary school, having been taught at home by his father and proceeded to secondary school finishing his formal education with a B.A. degree in the Classic (Latin, English Literature etc) summa cum laude from Fourah Bay College, Sierra Leone then affiliated to Dunelm University, United Kingdom. He attained this scintillating degree at the very young age of twenty-one (21) years.

After the acquisition of this educational qualification the travel bug caught him and he left home for Accra, the Goldcoast, now Ghana, where he teamed up with Dr. Nnamdi Azikiwe to run the West African Pilot, a foremost broadsheet at the time which became a most implacable platform for the fight for Independence for Nigeria and other African Nations.

When the fight was virtually won, Mr. Christian Jackson Smart (Papa) again seeking fresh challenges pastures came to Nigeria and got a job at the prestigious King's College Lagos where he taught many students who later became icons in the political, socio and economic canvass of Nigeria. Among these were, Sir Francis Akanu Ibiam who later became the Governor of the Eastern region, Oba Akenzua II, who ruled one time as the Oba of the great Benin Kingdom, Ademola Adetokunbo, who later chaired the Nations judicial bench. Raring for more challenges, he came to Benin city where he spent the longest period, about twenty-five years in what later became the longest period in one location in his sojourn on earth. Here, however, because of his ranked ingenuity and versatility, he successfully managed the job of the Territorial Controller for Fuel/Transport immediately after the second world war, a position that saw him transversing the Southern and Northern regions of the country. This he combined with his highly intellectual past time as a renowned Public letter writer handling so many cases that at times turned controversial.

Thereafter, he fully turned to his first love, teaching, and this occupation later turned him into a teaching ambassador at large where he made character building a major ingredient in the educational curriculum of his students. His teaching itineraries looked like a tour-de-force of the geographical landscape of Nigeria - Prince of Wales College, Asaba (now defunct), National College, Arondizuogu (in the present Anambra State), Ikot Ekpene High School, Stella Maris College, Port Harcourt, Christ Apostolic Church Teacher Training College, Efon Alaye in now Ekiti State as its first graduate Principal: his educational qualification was a sine non qua for the accreditation of the institution: Ibadan Boys' High School, Ibadan, Imade College, Owo, Edo Boys' High School, Benin city amongst others.

The lives he positively touched during his curricular tour reads like the Who is Who in Nigeria and the West African Sub-region.

He finished his physical assignment on earth when he finally shut his eyes, hale and hearty, with two of his children beside him - Mrs. Winifred Omorogie and Rhoda, now, Mrs. Rhoda Agbonlahor at 3:00hours, 14th July 1966. His life, though, like all flesh, was, at times tempestuous, was most times peaceful.

His children are glad that they had their own fair share of those character building principles he inculcated in all those students, as well as adults who providently crossed his path.

Yes, "his life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him that Nature might stand up and say to all the world, this was man!"

In summary, Rev. Smart Simeon Jackson was reflected in his son Mr. Christian Jackson Smart who had in him the passion for enlightenment and challenging quest for teaching, moral upbringing and branding of good world leaders.

This is the continuity from the said disconnection of Rev. Smart Simeon Jackson.

My next mail shall be the family tree of the descendants of Rev. Smart Simeon Jackson.

I hope you find this interesting and worthy of sharing.

Thanks.

Yours truly,
Mr. Nosakhare Anthony Smart.
